● Alive Baby

17-5 - 2023

which is a robot toy marketplace. The website is built using React and vanilla CSS, without the use of any React or CSS frameworks or component libraries. The website utilizes the SweetAlert2 library for notifications when performing CRUD (Create, Read, Update, Delete) operations. and used the AOS package for fun, I'm able to create the animation without this package. I'm working on this site on my parse time.

● The Cooker

26-4-2023

The Cooker is a chef recipe website that brings together talented chefs from various countries. With its enticing features, the site offers an array of culinary delights. Noteworthy sections include a dynamic slider and tab section showcasing chefs based on their rankings. Additionally, there is a convenient timing countdown feature. The website utilizes Google Firebase for secure authentication, and its appealing design is created using vanilla CSS. To fully experience the site, users can create an account or log in, which will display their name and image on the top right of the navbar. Only registered users can access detailed chef and recipe information, ensuring a personalized experience.
